

Jonathan Pettit Biographical Sketch

Jon has been with Oncor Electric Delivery for over 31 years. He started his engineering career as a nuclear power plant engineer during construction, startup, and operations. After this, he was an energy consultant, project manager, business planner, asset manager, and a community relations manager. He is currently the Manager of the Advanced Metering System program for Oncor.

He is a registered Professional Engineer in Texas with a BS in electrical engineering from Texas A&M and an MBA from Tarleton State University. He lives in Fort Worth with his wife and two children. Also, he's a U.S. Army Lieutenant Colonel (Retired) and served a tour in Operation Iraqi Freedom during 2005.