

Olga Machrone, Houston Office Contracts Department Manager, Fluor

Olga Machrone has about 19 years of experience in Contract Management and Procurement in Oil and Gas. Olga started her career in the industry by joining Chevron and later Fluor in 1998 on the Caspian Pipeline Project (CPC) in Russia in Procurement. In 2003 Olga moved to the United States and joined the Contracts department with a large pipeline operator, then another EPC company and currently working back with Fluor since 2006. Her experience includes Contract Management, International Purchasing, Material Management, Logistics, Currency Control and Regulations.

Ever since the beginning of her career, Olga has held a variety of roles on International and Domestic US Projects with Fluor both in the home office and in the field. Prior to her current role, Olga was responsible for contract management on the Sasol Petrochemical Project in Lake Charles, La., BP Whiting Project in Whiting, IN and the Demiansky Project in Siberia, Russia and then transitioned to the Energy and Chemicals Department Manager role starting in September 2014.

Olga has a Bachelor's Degree in Linguistics (English and Spanish). Olga has Master's Degree in World Economics, including International Trade Law, from Moscow University of International Trade and a Masters Degree in Industrial Engineering with a focus on Supply Chain Management and Logistics on Capital Projects from Clemson University.